(Panellists)

Dear Sir,

The New Education Policy (NEP) is on the making. The government of India is seriously bent upon to ensure accessible quality education to the citizens of our country. The government probably cannot succeed in its endeavour without the support forthcoming from its citizens. The Pt. Ravishankar Shukla University is trying to play part in this process by providing a platform to all stakeholders, namely public representatives (MPs and MLAs), industrialists, agriculturists, journalists, social activists, superannuated professors & principals, incumbent teaching faculty and students to deliberate on 20 themes for consultation on higher education identified by the Ministry of Human Resource Development. For the sake of clarity the earmarked themes have been divided into five groups and have been outlined below:

Group	Lead Panellist	Theme
A	Sanjay Tiwari	<input type="checkbox"/> Integrating skill development in higher education <input type="checkbox"/> Meaningful partnership with the private sector <input type="checkbox"/> Financing higher education <input type="checkbox"/> Engagement with industry to link education to employability
B	Gauri Shankar	<input type="checkbox"/> Ranking of institutions and accreditations <input type="checkbox"/> Linking higher education to society <input type="checkbox"/> Developing the best teachers <input type="checkbox"/> Sustaining student support systems <input type="checkbox"/> Promoting research and innovation
C	AK Gupta	<input type="checkbox"/> Opportunities for technology enabled learning <input type="checkbox"/> Promote cultural integration through language <input type="checkbox"/> Internationalization of higher education <input type="checkbox"/> New knowledge
D	Ninad Bodhankar	<input type="checkbox"/> Governance reforms for quality <input type="checkbox"/> Improving the quality of regulation <input type="checkbox"/> Pace setting roles of central institutions <input type="checkbox"/> Improving State public universities
E	Kallol K Ghosh	<input type="checkbox"/> Promoting open and distance learning and online courses <input type="checkbox"/> Addressing regional disparity <input type="checkbox"/> Bridging gender and social gaps

We identify you as one of the Panellists who can contribute positively in summing up feedback/suggestions given by the participants of the workshop. All group-level interaction meeting will be held parallel in the building of the HRDC, PRSU, Raipur, as per the time table appended below. We do hope that eventually we can make Government's endeavour extremely fruitful. The whole exercise will certainly yield dividends through drafting a full proof result oriented NEP.

Apropos the above the University is going to organize a workshop on 17th October 2015. The session will begin at 1000 and end up at 1700 with working lunch break in the middle. The Human Resource Development Center of the Pt. Ravishankar Shukla University has been chosen as the venue.

The structure of the workshop will include 5 panellists who will listen to the input of participants and moderate it to a bundle of effective recommendations that will be communicated to the MHRD.
