

M.Phil. (Comparative Religion and Applied Philosophy)

Revised Syllabus w.e.f. Session 2018-19 (Examination 2019.)

Note: All the three papers are compulsory.

Paper-I : Research Methodology.

Definition of Research, Nature of research in Religion, philosophy & Yoga.
Research methodology in Social Sciences and Applied Philosophy.
Selection of Research topic, Preparation of Synopsis and Review of research available in the field; Data collection.
Standard format of Bibliography and References in thesis.
Different methods of Research : Analytic --Language analysis.
Synthetic, Inductive, Deductive methods,
Hypothesis, Verification and Falsification, Explanation.
Method/Technique of writing Abstract, Research paper and Dissertation.
Computer Application : Use of Search Engines, useful Websites,
Use of Microsoft word and Excel.

Paper -II : Comparative Study of Religions.

Definition and Nature of Philosophy of religion.
Vedic Religions --God and Liberation.
Jainism and Buddhism :Ethics and Liberation.
Basic concepts of Sikhism Satnam, Christianity & Islam
Concept of God, Cosmology and Liberation as per :
Radhakrishnan , Vivekanand , M.K. Gandhi ;
Comparative evaluation of Religions of Indian and Non-Indian origin.

Paper-III : Yogic Skill Development

Development of Yogic Skill - meaning, definition, aim & utility.
Different aspects of Yogic Skill Development .
Fundamental elements of Skill Development - Communication, Language , Personality & Behavior .
Utility of Academic Engineering In Yogic Skill Development , Engineering Techniques - Principle & use of Computer, Lap Top & Projector, etc.
Guidance & Counseling - Meaning, Definition , aim & utility; Different aspects of effective counseling .
Principles of Skilled Teaching of Yogic Practices; Personal & Group Yogic Classes.
Yogic Practice Camps - Aim, Scheme, Evaluation & Development of organizational capability.